Re: IMSA Fuel Level Sensor Data Release

Effective at the next race event, IMSA will provide to each Competitor their respective Fuel Level Sensor data. Shortly after each refueling stop, the data will automatically be posted to a secure file sharing website. The data will be in a proprietary format that will require a specific data analysis software to review the data. The software will be made available for download.

To access the data each team must nominate an email to associate with the file sharing system. To declare send email to cnovotney@imsa.com by Wednesday, May 23rd, 2018. Instructions on receiving and analyzing data will be sent shortly after nominating an email.
